Unit 5 – Around the house

In this unit, you are going to learn to give information about rooms in a house as well as ask for and give information about where things are. You will also learn to tell someone to do something.

A. THE HOUSE

i Spanish houses are very different from New Zealand ones. They are made of bricks or stones as thick walls are ideally situated for the hot climate. They are very solid and can stand for over a hundred years. Some old houses have an inner courtyard. Unfortunately, many people have never lived in a house because it is too expensive. Because of the lack of space, many families live in an apartment block.
